Friday, July 12, 2019 marks the Lloyd Center for the Environment's 34th "Celebrating Science & Education!" Clambake. This event is a South Coast tradition, the unofficial opening of the summer season—an event not to be missed!

This year we're getting "Back to Basics"—enjoy live music, a classic menu of whole lobsters, clams, etc. and top shelf open bar.

Over the years, exceptionally favorable demographics have made the Clambake the sponsorship of choice for smart business leaders, seeking to raise their profiles in this high-potential market.

Your support in past years is very much appreciated and I believe that the added exposure as a 34th Clambake Corporate Sponsor offers an exciting opportunity to showcase your business and the products and services you provide, to a very influential audience of over 500 key South Coast residents.

Today, the Center is working to protect nature through research, education and outreach. Their teaching staff brings outstanding environmental science programs to a record number of area schools, reaching over 12,000 children annually.

I encourage you to read the impressive list on the back of this page which highlights just some of the programs corporate support helps to fund.

Thank you for supporting an organization that is truly making a difference!

CLAMBAKE XXXIV "Celebrating Science & Education!" Friday, July 12, 2019

Founded in 1978 and situated with its headquarters and Hardscrabble Nature Preserve overlooking the Slocum River estuary in Dartmouth, Massachusetts, the Lloyd Center for the Environment has achieved a well earned reputation for excellence in environmental research and education. Through its outreach programs, it has established itself as a highly regarded leader in the ongoing effort to raise awareness of the area's fragile natural resources and the importance of protecting them.

ANNUALLY, THE LLOYD CENTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT PROVIDES:

- up to 24,000 contact hours through in-school and field study programs for up to 13,000 students from 50 different school systems;
- professional development for teachers through a variety of workshops and programs;
- free access to our 82-acre property for approximately 25,000 visitors from almost 40 states and more than a dozen different countries;
- very low cost environmental programs (ranging from estuary explorations to canoe trips to tot walks) for participants of all ages throughout the year;
- professional research and environmental monitoring which over the years has documented over 1,758 species in the Westport and Slocum River watersheds and achieved more than 30 surveys of state-listed endangered species.

THE LLOYD CENTER TODAY...

- Over 25,000 visitors annually from 48 states and 11 countries;
- Over 25 years of monitoring threatened and endangered species;
- Over five miles of hiking trails free and open to the public from dawn to dusk.
